IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT RISE EMAIL COMMUNICATIONS!

Due to the increased number of people now on the RISE email list, we moved to a new bulk email system that will allow us to reach everyone at one time.

Please add the following email address to your contact list: elisa.diller@risede.com.

Most email systems are quite good at detecting mass email messages and will automatically default them into your Spam or Trash folders unless you let your email system know that you want these messages. You can do that by adding the email address of the sender to your contact list or address book.

We sent out two updates in December through the Sender.net communication system so you probably received them, but if they are not in your email inbox, you may not have seen them.

When I added the risede.com address above in both my personal and my Gmail account contact lists, it then allowed the second update to go into both inboxes. Hope this advice helps and explains why you may not have received communications from RiseDelaware for a while!

Thanks!
